CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

Chapter summary

- Scottish Landfill Tax will replace UK Landfill Tax from 1 April 2015.
- Together, the RSTP Bill and SLfT Act, alongside the SLfT regulations in Annex D and secondary legislation following the RSTP Bill, provide the legislative framework required to make SLfT ‘work’.
- Revenue Scotland will prepare guidance over the course of 2014 and published prior to the tax going live in April 2015.
- This consultation asks for your views on the draft subordinate legislation and ways in which the tax can operate effectively and efficiently in Scotland.
- The consultation includes questions on proposals relating to the funding mechanism and operational structure of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund.

1.1. On 21 January 2014, the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 (SLfT Act) was given Royal Assent. Details of the Act’s passage through Parliament can be found on the Scottish Parliament website. Scottish Landfill Tax (SLfT) will replace UK Landfill Tax (LfT) in Scotland from 1 April 2015. This Consultation builds on the previous consultation, ‘Protecting Our Resources, a consultation on Scottish Landfill Tax’ and evidence obtained through the Business and Regulatory Impact Assessment for the SLfT Act.

1.2. The Act includes tax-specific provisions needed to allow for the collection of SLfT. The Scottish Parliament was granted legislative competence in the area following the passage of the Scotland Act 2012. The other devolved tax is Land and Buildings Transaction Tax (LBTT) which will replace Stamp Duty Land Tax in Scotland from 1 April 2015. The Land and Buildings Transaction Tax (Scotland) Act 2013 received Royal Assent on 31 July 2013. A separate consultation in relation to subordinate legislation on the LBTT Act 2013 is currently underway.

1.3. A third piece of primary legislation for the two devolved taxes, the Revenue Scotland and Tax Powers Bill\(^5\) (RSTP Bill) was introduced to the Scottish Parliament on 12 December 2013. Subject to the approval of Parliament, it will establish Revenue Scotland as the tax authority responsible for the collection and management of the two devolved taxes. Revenue Scotland will be supported by the Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA) for the collection and management of SLfT and Registers of Scotland (RoS) for the collection and management of LBTT.

1.4. The details of each tax are set out in each of the tax-specific Bills. Subject to the agreement of the UK and Scottish Parliaments, further taxes may be devolved or introduced in Scotland in the future without the need for primary legislation at Westminster.

The Scottish Government’s approach to Scottish Landfill Tax

1.5. The Zero Waste agenda, as enshrined in the Zero Waste Plan and the Waste (Scotland) Regulations 2012, enables an ambitious programme of change that aims to create an environment where we make the best use of resources by minimising Scotland's demand on primary resources, and maximising the reuse, recycling and recovery of resources instead of treating them as waste (see figure 1.1).

1.6. Preventing and designing out waste is also a vital step in Scotland’s journey toward a low carbon economy. A recent UK study estimated around 2.3% of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) could be saved through straightforward resource efficiency measures by using raw materials more efficiently and generating less waste\(^6\). Where waste can’t be prevented, creating efficient routes to circulate materials back into the economy in a way that maintains and enhances the value of those materials will help Scotland continue on its path of sustainable economy growth.

\(^6\) WRAP Report - Meeting the UK climate change challenge: The contribution of resource efficiency, 2009
1.7. Through the Zero Waste Plan and the Low Carbon Economic Strategy, the Scottish Government continues to support the growth of a sector that will play an increasingly important role in creating a resilient and sustainable economy. This includes direct support through Zero Waste Scotland, including the ‘Safeguarding Scotland’s Resources scheme’, a loan fund, and large/small scale capital grants to stimulate investment and innovation across the sector.

1.8. The financial savings that can be made through adopting alternatives to landfill are now central to the economics of waste management. Furthermore, the tax has helped establish the stable policy landscape needed to underpin long-term investment decisions on waste and resources infrastructure and collection systems. During a time of significant change in the waste and resources industry, these regulations are designed to support the Zero Waste Plan and maintain a stable landscape when, on 1 April 2015, UK LFT ceases to have effect in Scotland and SLfT is introduced.

Scottish landfill sites

1.9. In 2012 there were 58 landfill sites run by 52 operators disposing of around 4.35m tonnes of Scotland’s waste. The majority of this was mixed wastes and mineral wastes (including construction and demolition waste) which together made up 96% of the total. About 36% of the waste landfilled in Scotland originated from households and the remainder was produced by commerce and industry.

The RSTP Bill – a framework for devolved taxes

1.10. Together, the RSTP Bill and SLfT Act (alongside the SLfT regulations in Annex D and secondary legislation following the RSTP Bill) provide the legislative framework required to make SLfT ‘work’.

1.11. The RSTP Bill makes provisions for a Scottish tax system to enable the collection and management of LBTT, SLfT and provides the legislative platform for any future tax that may come under the jurisdiction of the Scottish Parliament. It establishes Revenue Scotland as the tax authority responsible for the collection and management of Scotland’s two devolved taxes from 1 April 2015. Revenue Scotland currently exists as an administrative function within the Scottish Government. The Bill will put Revenue Scotland on a statutory footing as a non-ministerial department which is accountable to the Scottish Parliament.

1.12. Some of the operational functions of Revenue Scotland with respect to SLfT will be devolved to the Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA). Revenue Scotland will retain overall responsibility for the collection and management of the two devolved taxes, including the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund (SLCF).

1.13. The RSTP Bill puts in place a statutory framework which will apply to the devolved taxes and sets out the relationship between the tax authority and taxpayers in Scotland, including the relevant powers, rights and duties.

1.14. The RSTP Bill will deliver certainty to taxpayers and has been designed to be as simple as possible, with a common approach to tax assessments, applying penalties, promoting compliance and resolving tax disputes. It will deliver convenience because collection will be supported by a modern electronic payments system in line with the ambitions set out in Scotland’s Digital Future: A Strategy for Scotland.

1.15. Taxpayers will be required to submit a self-assessed tax return (a “self-assessment”) where there is a liability to pay tax. Both taxpayers and Revenue Scotland will have the power to amend tax assessments after they have been submitted. Revenue Scotland will also have the power to issue its own tax assessment in certain circumstances, or to amend a self-assessment made by a taxpayer.

1.16. Revenue Scotland (and SEPA if delegated powers), will have the power to issue penalty notices to taxpayers or to their agents for non-compliant behaviour with respect to the devolved taxes. It will also have the power to apply discretion with respect to reducing or waiving penalties in certain circumstances and must issue guidance on how discretion will be exercised.

1.17. The RSTP Bill specifies the non-compliant behaviour that should be subject to penalties, including, for example, late or non-payment of tax, errors in documents submitted or not submitting information requested by Revenue Scotland or by another public body to which Revenue Scotland has delegated some of its powers.

1.18. There will be three kinds of financial penalties for non-compliant behaviour – fixed penalties, daily penalties, and percentage-based penalties, where the penalty is linked to the potential loss in tax revenues. Revenue Scotland will also have the power to inspect records, enter business premises to carry out investigations in relation to tax activity and to seek a summary warrant from the sheriff court to collect unpaid taxes and/or penalties owed.

1.19. The provisions in the RSTP Bill include measures to counteract tax avoidance through the introduction of a Scottish general anti-avoidance rule (GAAR). The purpose of the GAAR is to give Revenue Scotland the power to counteract tax advantages arising from tax avoidance arrangements that are artificial. The Scottish GAAR would enable Revenue Scotland to take counteraction in a wider range of circumstances than the existing UK GAAR (which deals with tax abuse rather than tax avoidance).

1.20. The RSTP Bill also sets out a structure for resolving tax disputes by providing that the taxpayer can require Revenue Scotland to carry out an internal review. Revenue Scotland may also offer to enter into mediation with the taxpayer. If a dispute is not resolved by an internal review or if mediation is entered into and an agreement is not reached, the taxpayer will still have recourse to the new Scottish Tax Tribunals which will be established by the Bill. A taxpayer who wishes may lodge an appeal with the Scottish Tax Tribunals without first asking for an internal review or may refuse to enter into mediation. A further appeal on a point of law against a decision taken by the Scottish Tax Tribunals could be made to the Court of Session.

Administrative arrangements - Revenue Scotland and SEPA

1.21. Revenue Scotland, Registers of Scotland and SEPA are working together to establish their respective roles and responsibilities with regard to the devolved taxes, building on each other’s knowledge and experience.

1.22. Documents which describe delegated functions and related performance expectations will be developed towards the end of 2014 will be agreed between the three organisations and confirmed before April 2015.

1.23. Revenue Scotland will be required to ensure that clear advice and guidance, tailored to Scots law and practice, is available to help taxpayers, and their advisers to understand the new system and any changes in processes for submitting tax returns and payments.

Consultation arrangements and timetable

1.24. A timeline of upcoming arrangements with regards to the devolved taxes can be found in Table 1.1. The Scottish Government intends to lay the subordinate legislation in Parliament in October 2014.

CHAPTER 2

TAX RATES AND QUALIFYING MATERIALS

Chapter summary

- Tax rates will be announced as part of the 2015 draft budget process.
- Scottish Landfill Tax will maintain two rates of tax when introduced. However further engagement with industry and investigatory work will be carried out post implementation to examine the possibility of additional rates and materials contained within the rates.
- In order to maintain stability and consistency for industry, the Scottish Government has set the same list of qualifying material that applies to UK Landfill Tax.

Tax rates

2. Scottish Ministers have indicated that in autumn 2014 they will bring forward proposals on the rates of tax to apply to the devolved taxes from April 2015 as part of the draft Budget process for 2015-16. Subject to the approval of Parliament, the tax rates will then apply until a subsequent order is laid. In advance of each annual draft Budget process, consideration will be given to whether rates should be adjusted taking into account all relevant factors. It is common practice amongst many governments to set tax rates as part of the annual budget process, depending on a range of factors including spending priorities and economic circumstances, whilst retaining an ability to make changes to tax rates or thresholds quickly if necessary.

2.1. Under the current UK LFT system, landfill tax is chargeable by weight and there are two rates:

- a lower rate that applies to less polluting (or damaging) wastes listed in the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) Order 2011; and
- a standard rate that applies to all other taxable waste disposals.

2.2. To provide the policy certainty needed to support current and future investment decisions in waste and resources infrastructure, the Scottish Government intends to introduce the tax, at tax rates no lower than those for UK LFT at April 2015.

2.3. For the introduction of the tax in 2015, it is the Scottish Government’s intention to maintain a similar two rate system that is charged by weight. Scottish Ministers have the power to vary the material qualifying for the lower rate in the future. However to ensure consistency and to aid implementation for the SLfT tax regime in Scotland for operators and regulators at the outset, the list of qualifying material in the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) 2011 (see Annex C) has been replicated.

2.4. This will be a stabilising factor for the industry in the short term. This position will be reviewed in the future further to additional engagement with industry once SLfT is established. Ministers will then consider whether certain materials could be subject to different rates of tax.

2.5. The lower rate of tax recognises that there is a relatively low level of environmental impact associated with the landfilling of wastes which are inert. Inert wastes do not biodegrade, they do not produce landfill gas and there is a low risk of pollution to groundwater or surface water. Inert waste landfills can be subject to a much shorter period of aftercare and be returned more readily to other productive uses.

Qualifying materials

2.6. The definition of inert waste in the European Waste Directive differs from what has historically been classified as inert for UK LFT purposes. The Scottish Government has therefore not defined the qualifying materials as inert, but recognises that these materials have lower environmental impacts.

2.7. Although not all material meeting the criteria below will be subject to the lower rate of tax, all material in the Qualifying Material Order must meet the following conditions:

- Non-hazardous
  Wastes which are not 'hazardous' within the meaning of article 3.2 of the revised Waste Framework Directive (2008/98/EC), unless the material has no practical alternative waste management option and must be disposed of to landfill.

- Low potential for greenhouse gas emissions
  Wastes which are not biodegradable, have a low organic content or do not break down under the anaerobic conditions that prevail in landfill sites to produce methane. These include inert waste within meaning of article 2(e) of the Landfill Directive (1999/31/EC); and waste with little or no organic content such as inorganic residues or completely combusted residues from the incineration of biodegradable/organic wastes.

- Low polluting potential in the landfill environment

  - Waste where the contaminants are unlikely to become mobile in the landfill and any leachate produced has little or no pollution potential.

  - Where the pollution potential of the waste is reduced if deposited alone in mono-fill landfill sites or within separate cells (not mixed with other wastes) within a landfill site.
The engineering requirements for the landfill are lower than would be the case for a non-hazardous landfill (as laid out in the Landfill Directive) by virtue of a risk assessment agreed with the regulator.

The aftercare period and requirements are significantly lower than would normally be required for a non-hazardous waste landfill, based on a risk assessment agreed with the regulator.

2.8. To improve clarity and consistency, the Scottish Government wishes to seek views on whether any further refinement to these definitions should be considered.

Qualifying Materials Order

Q1. Do you agree with the list of materials to be subject to the lower rate of tax, as set out in the draft Qualifying Materials Order?

PRESCRIBED ACTIVITIES ON LANDFILL SITES

Chapter Summary

- Drawing on the power in section 6(1) of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014, the draft Prescribed Activities Order sets out which landfill site activities are to be treated as taxable disposals under Scottish Landfill Tax.

- All material entering a landfill site will be taxable provided it is not subject to a tax exemption, stored in a non-disposal area or is used in the final restoration of a site according with the site permit.

3. Section 3 of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 defines what a taxable disposal is but this provision allows the Scottish Ministers to prescribe a specific “landfill site activity”, with the effect that it will constitute a taxable disposal. It also allows for certain conditions to be set before an activity is considered a landfill site activity or a disposal.

3.1. Section 6 of the Act provides an Order-making power to prescribe “landfill site activity”, which is then to be treated (a) as a disposal at the landfill site of the material involved in the activity as waste, (b) as a disposal of that material made by way of landfill, and (c) as a disposal at the landfill site of that material. These powers will be exercised by the Scottish Government by means of a Prescribed Activities Order.

3.2. The Scottish Government is of the view that all material entering a landfill site, provided it is not used in the final restoration of the site or stored in a non-disposal area, should be subject to the tax.

3.3. The Order is necessary to tax material received on a landfill site that is put to a temporary use (for example, for the daily coverage of sites required under environmental regulation, and construction of on-site haul roads).

3.4. Therefore the activities described in paragraph 3.5 are to be treated as a taxable disposal for the purposes of SLfT.

Proposal

3.5. The draft Order in Annex D sets out the landfill site activities that will be taxable under SLfT. To provide clarity and consistency to the industry, the activities are in line with those set out in the Landfill Tax (Prescribed Landfill Site Activities) Order 2009 for UK LFT. Activities to be replicated are:
(1)(a) the use of material to cover a disposal area during a cessation in landfill disposal activity;
(b) the use of material to create or maintain a temporary haul road;
(c) the use of material to create or maintain temporary hard standing;
(d) the use of material to create or maintain a cell bund;
(e) the use of material to create or maintain a temporary screening bund except where the material so used is naturally occurring material extracted from the landfill site in which the temporary screening bund is located;
(f) the temporary storage of ashes (including pulverised flue ash and furnace bottom ash);
(g) the use of material placed against the drainage layer, liner or cap of the disposal area to prevent damage to that layer or liner;
(h) any other landfill site activity if in relation to that activity –
   (i) sections 30 or 31 of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 requires a person to notify or give information, or a person is required to designate a part of a landfill site as an “non-disposal area”\(^8\), give information or maintain a record in respect of the area; and
   (ii) that requirement is not complied with.
(i) any use of waste material deposited out with the conditions of an authorisation.
(j) any use of waste material deposited without an authorisation when an authorisation would normally be required for that activity.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not apply to any landfill site activity if, or to the extent that, it involves material that is or has been otherwise chargeable to landfill tax or exempted from landfill tax.”

Prescribed activities on landfill sites

Q2 Do you agree with the list of prescribed landfill site activities that are to be taxable under Scottish Landfill Tax?

\(^8\) “Information areas” in the UK legislation are referred to as “non-disposal areas” in s30 of the SLfT Act.
CHAPTER 4
TAX EXEMPTION FOR SITE RESTORATION

Chapter Summary

- The Scottish Government intends to use the power in section 11 of the SLfT Act to provide an exemption for SEPA and local authorities from Scottish Landfill Tax in cases where they have a statutory obligation to restore sites created as a result of illegal activity/or where a landfill site operator has become insolvent.

Background

4. The Waste (Scotland) Regulations 2012 aim to ensure that the minimum level of waste services on offer is better than that of the past. This will require increased competition in the waste management sector to ensure that businesses have access to choice and the sector passes on the opportunities and savings that come with moving to a resource-minded approach to waste management. To drive these changes, the regulations introduce a series of measures to:

- maximise the quantity and quality of materials available for recycling and minimise the need for residual waste treatment capacity;
- move residual waste management up the waste hierarchy so as to extract resource value from those materials we can't recycle;
- drive operational and cultural shifts in how waste is managed, including improved provision of services to households and businesses;
- create the market certainty needed to support investment by businesses in the recycling, materials reprocessing and waste management sector;

4.1. The regulations will also ensure the Scottish Government meets its requirements under the European Waste Framework Directive (WFD). Meeting the requirements of the WFD will require substantial changes to waste management in Scotland, including increased recycling rates. The Zero Waste Plan is well aligned to the aims of the WFD, and the regulations are intended to bring about the changes required under the WFD in a way that will maximise the economic opportunities afforded by a resource-centred approach to managing Scotland's waste.

4.2. Specific measures introduced by the regulations include:

- a requirement to remove key recyclables (hard plastics and non-ferrous metals) from mixed (unsorted) waste prior to incineration (2012);
- a requirement for businesses to present dry recyclables (metals, plastics, paper, card and glass) (2013) and food waste for collection (2013 and 2015 for businesses producing less than 50kg of food waste);
- a requirement on local authorities to provide householders with a collection service for dry recyclables (2013) and food waste (2015).
- a ban on materials collected separately for recycling going to landfill or incineration (2014);
- a ban on biodegradable municipal waste going to landfill, thus helping to substantially reduce harmful emissions of methane (2020).

4.3. The Waste (Scotland) Regulations 2012\(^9\) will have a dramatic effect on SLfT over the coming decade and will progressively change both the amount and composition of waste going to landfill. The current landscape of landfill sites in Scotland is therefore expected to change significantly, with less material being landfilled and that which is progressively being inert materials that can’t be recycled or industrial wastes for which there are currently no alternative treatment routes. We are therefore likely to see fewer landfill sites in the future, although some sites will remain open for longer so that they can complete their full cycle through to restoration and closure.

4.4. These changes in the waste and resources sector mean that there will be an increasing risk that business models that underpin some landfill sites may become unviable and some sites consequently become insolvent.

Proposal

4.5. Section 11 of the SLfT Act allows for the Scottish Ministers to vary what is categorised as a taxable disposal, what is not a taxable disposal and what is exempt.

4.6. The Scottish Government is keen to ensure that both illegal sites and sites where the operator has become insolvent are properly restored. Currently, if a landfill site operator becomes insolvent then SEPA or the local authority (LA), having already tried to utilise the sites financial provision, may have to clean the site up including getting contractors and heavy machinery on site to remove the waste material and dispose of it properly. Although such circumstances are only likely to happen on limited occasions SLfT would be incurred if taken for disposal by SEPA or the LA.

4.7. In insolvency cases the administrator should be liable for the cost in the first instance. If there are no assets or they do not cover the cost of disposing of the material then SEPA or a local authority would be eligible to claim the exemption (or contractors operating on their behalf).

4.8. Where material has been illegally disposed, SEPA or the local authority may have to remove it, after not being able to establish the responsible person (for example if a s59 notice of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 is not complied with or s59(7) is utilised).

4.9. In illegal (‘un-authorised’) cases, the disposer of the material (the operator operating without an authorisation) should be liable for the cost in the first instance. If Revenue Scotland cannot secure payment of the evaded tax liability or this does not cover the SLfT cost of disposing of the material, then SEPA or a local authority will be eligible to claim the exemption or a portion of it (for the remaining difference).

Tax exemption for site restoration

Q3. Do you agree with the proposal to exempt the Scottish Environment Protection Agency and local authorities from Scottish Landfill Tax that may arise from work to clear and restore sites as a result of illegal dumping or the insolvency of a landfill site operator?
Chapter Summary

- Landfill site operators will have a duty to use a weighbridge where one is functional and available on the landfill site.
- If there is no weighbridge available on site, any alternative method of weighing the waste must be approved by Revenue Scotland / SEPA before it can be used for the purposes of a tax return.
- To reduce pollution and encourage removal of water from waste material, the Scottish Government proposes that water cannot be discounted for the purpose of the tax calculation.

5. SLfT will apply to disposals of material by way of a landfill site. The amount of tax due is calculated on the basis of the weight of material being disposed; therefore stringent weighing methodologies are required to ensure consistency, openness and fairness.

Weighing waste

5.1. The draft Regulations in Annex E (Part 9, Regulation 35-40) set out the Scottish Government’s approach to the weighing of waste. The approach is similar to the approach for UK LFT set out in section 44 of the Finance Act 1996. The draft regulations also allow Revenue Scotland to specify and alter the detail of how material is weighed by means of guidance. This will allow future technological developments to be employed and will reduce the possibility of any misuse of the system.

5.2. Where a site has no weighbridge, the landfill site operator will be required to seek approval from Revenue Scotland / SEPA for an alternative method of calculating the weight of the material being disposed to landfill. The regulations state that where a weighbridge is available either on site or within close enough proximity of a site so as not to incur excessive costs, then it must be used to weigh all disposals.

5.3. Most operators now have weighbridges at their landfill sites and there are many public or accessible weighbridges. The number of applications for approval of alternative forms of weighing is therefore expected to be minimal.

5.4. Other arrangements will be required for weighbridge breakdowns or when an alternative weighbridge is not available within a close proximity. These arrangements should be agreed by with the tax authority who will define agreed methods of weighing in the guidance.
5.5. Any weighbridge used for SLfT purposes must comply with the relevant weights and measures legislation.

5.6. This is very similar to the existing approach taken for UK LFT. However, the approach to SLfT emphasises the requirement to weigh materials on site or at a nearby weighbridge in the first instance; only in exceptional circumstances would other agreed methods be permitted by Revenue Scotland / SEPA.

5.7. Only material weighed in accordance with the regulations can be submitted in a tax return. If inappropriate weighing techniques are utilised, the tax return would be invalid.

Water content

5.8. The Scottish Government has given consideration to the weighing of water contained within waste to be disposed at landfill sites. It has been noted that:

- The current UK LFT system actively discourages the de-watering of waste by allowing water to be discounted.

- The process of encouraging water to be discounted from waste going to landfill allows for excess water to be allowed into the landfill mass. This in turn adds to the generation of leachate and creates a further pollution risk, or at least resources have to be utilised in the form of leachate treatment to minimise the risk of pollution.

- Liquid waste going to landfill was banned in 2003 by the Landfill (Scotland) Regulations 2003. There should therefore be less need to discount water than there was in 1996 when LfT was first introduced.

- The discount process when determining the tax due can be quite complex, which in turn, increases the scope for abuse/evasion.

5.9. For these reasons, the Scottish Government proposes that water should not be regarded as a discountable constituent for the purposes of SLfT calculations to encourage more dewatering to take place.

CHAPTER 6

CREDIT - BAD DEBT

Chapter Summary

• If a landfill site operator issues an invoice for a deposit and the customer enters an insolvency procedure, the landfill site operator will be able to apply for a credit for a portion of the bad debt.

• The credit will only be for the Scottish Landfill Tax element of the debt and the credit will be for the same proportion of SLfT that the outstanding bad debt forms of the whole.

6. Section 19 of the SLfT Act contains provisions that allow Revenue Scotland and landfill site operators to write off bad debts should the landfill site operator issue an invoice for a deposit and the same customer enters an insolvency procedure.

Proposal

6.1. The regulations 18-25 in Annex E propose that if a customer of a landfill site operator becomes insolvent, the operator may claim a credit for bad debt if all of the following conditions are met:

- The landfill site operator has carried out a taxable activity, for example disposal of waste, for a consideration in money;
- The customer is not connected with the landfill site operator (as defined in Section 1122 of the Corporation Tax Act 2010);
- The landfill site operator has already accounted for the SLfT on the disposal and paid it to Revenue Scotland;
- The landfill site operator has written off the debt in the day-to-day accounts and transferred it to a separate bad debt account;
- That the landfill invoice was issued within 14 days of the disposal and complies with regulations under 26(3); and
- 12 months have passed since the date of issue of the landfill invoice.

6.2. Before the credit can be claimed, the landfill site operator must have the following records:

- a copy of the SLfT invoice that the landfill site operator issued, and
- the details of any waste transfer note;
- the outstanding amount;
- the amount of the claim;
- the return in which the claim was made;
- a separate bad debt account showing, for each relevant disposal;
- the amount of tax charged;
- the return in which that tax was accounted for and when it was paid;
- the date and identifying number of the landfill invoice that was issued; and
- any payment or other consideration received.

6.3. The landfill site operator can only claim credit for the amount of SLfT charged on the disposal relating to the bad debt. However, the following must be offset against the amount of the bad debt:

- any amount that they owe the customer (or mutual debt);
- the value of any enforceable security that they have in relation to that customer; and/or
- any part payment made by the customer for the debt.

6.4. In such a case, the landfill site operator’s claim to credit can only be for the same proportion of SLfT that the outstanding bad debt forms of the whole, as the example below illustrates:

- total charge for disposal £182.50 (including £82.50 SLfT which has been paid)
- payment received £90
- amount of debt £92.50
- bad debt credit claimable £92.50/£182.50 × £82.50 = £41.81

Credit – bad debt

Q5 Do you agree with the Scottish Government’s approach to allowing credit for bad debt?
CHAPTER 7

A SCOTTISH LANDFILL COMMUNITIES FUND - SUPPORTING THOSE AFFECTED BY LANDFILL

Chapter summary

- Regulations 26-33 set out the detail of a Scottish Landfill Communities Fund (SLCF) to replace the UK fund from April 2015.

- Landfill is an environmentally damaging activity. Methane emissions contribute to climate change and locally there can be detrimental impacts on wildlife, air quality (noise and odour) and on watercourses as well as litter problems and vermin.

- The Scottish Government proposes to establish a fund for worthy causes and to finance it through a tax credit system. Furthermore, to support and enhance the continued role of a communities fund, Scottish Government proposes to increase the tax credit limit by 10% over the UK LCF at introduction.

- In order to keep administration costs to a minimum and to maximise money spent on projects, landfill site operators will only be able to distribute funds through bodies registered and approved by the tax authority.

- Organisations that wish to distribute funds on behalf of landfill site operators must be a member of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum and will need to register for that objective separately with SEPA. These requirements will be set out in guidance.

- Projects within 10 miles of a landfill site or waste transfer station will be eligible for funding.

Introduction

7. The Scottish Government recognises that landfill is an environmentally damaging activity. Those living close to landfill sites can experience detrimental impacts on wildlife, air quality (noise and odour) and on watercourses as well as unsightly litter from wind blow and vermin problems and impacts of vehicle movements. Methane emissions from landfill sites also contribute to climate change, something that affects all of us.

7.1. The UK Landfill Communities Fund (UK LCF) was set up in 1996 to provide funding for community or environmental projects in the vicinity of landfill sites. The fund operates as a tax credit scheme whereby landfill site operators can contribute up to 5.1% of their UK LFT liability to Environmental Bodies (EBs) and reclaim 90% of this contribution as a tax credit. They then either bear the remaining 10% themselves or an independent third party can make up the difference to the landfill site operator.

7.2. The Scottish Ministers will use the powers in section 18 of the SLfT Act to set, control and administer a Scottish Landfill Communities Fund (SLCF) credit scheme in order to set up a similar system in Scotland. The provisions in the regulations ensure that a landfill site operator is only entitled to credit if certain conditions are met i.e. to pay a sum to a registered Distributive Environmental Body (DEB).

7.3. The Scottish Government intends to create a framework that maintains the best parts of the existing system, while also ensuring that administration costs are minimised so that the maximum amount of funds are spent on actual projects.

Projects and spend in Scotland

7.4. The UK LCF has delivered a wide variety of projects in areas affected by landfill sites. Around £80 million (as at 2012) has been distributed to projects in Scotland from the UK LCF. In addition, because the funds are received directly from landfill site operators and not from a public body, they have levered in a significant amount of other funding over the past 18 years. The UK LCF is entirely private funding and therefore not limited by state aid rules. It is therefore able to be used as match funding for public funding from a variety of sources.

7.5. The Scottish Government expects that the net effect of Scotland’s Zero Waste Plan and the Waste (Scotland) Regulations 2012 will result in a significant decrease of landfill tonnages in Scotland over the next ten years, with a corresponding reduction in tax receipts. The Scottish Government’s analysis of these trends suggests that tax receipts will drop by 62% and stabilise in 2025 at around 38% of the receipts in 2010-11, assuming no further escalation in tax rates.
Proposals

7.6. The Scottish Government believes that the UK LCF has played an important role in supporting communities affected by landfill sites as well as to the wider Scottish environment. The Scottish Government proposes to establish a Scottish Landfill Communities Fund for worthy causes and to finance it through a tax credit system.

Credit rate

7.7. Furthermore, to enhance the ability of the fund to address a wide range of outcomes for Scotland’s environment and communities, the Scottish Government proposes to increase the amount of funding available to projects for the first three years of the scheme by 10% over the current system. Based on current landfill activities and tax rates, this would increase the fund in Scotland by approximately £450,000 each year.

Private Funding Status and Match Funding

7.8. The UKLCF has been broadly successful at leveraging funding for good causes. For every £1 spent by the fund, the Scottish Government understands that around £4-5 is levered by way of match funding from other sources. Money from other sources includes other Scottish Government, local authority, UK and European funds. Access to these funds often carries a qualification that is dependent on match funding from non-government sources. The regulations (26-33) in Annex E relating to the SLCF have been designed so that the SLCF will maintain its private funding status and to ensure that as much money as possible from the scheme goes to support worthy causes.

Registration Process

7.9. For clarity we will refer to an environmental body carrying out projects as an, ‘Environmental Body (EB).’ DEB means ‘Distributive Environmental Body’ which is a member of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum (SLCFF). Section 18 of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 and Regulation 28 in Annex E allow landfill site operators to claim a tax credit if they pay money to an DEB registered for objective F as set out in the regulations.

7.10. All DEBs have to be registered with SEPA (acting on behalf of Revenue Scotland). Bodies that provide administrative, financial or other services to EBs to allow them to operate (in accordance with Objective F (as described in Annex E)) are to be registered separately from the other organisations working on the other 5 objectives. This allows the tax authority to carefully monitor the number of bodies carrying out this function.

7.11. In addition, as a pre-requisite for registration, DEBs would have to be a member of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum (SLCFF). The Forum has its own conditions of membership.

7.12. Currently, the most common way for a project to apply for and receive funding is to approach a DEB. These bodies can receive and hold contributions from landfill site operators for distribution in respect of approved projects on behalf of a landfill site operator, or for more than one landfill site operator. Figure 7.1 below sets out how funds are distributed in the UK LCF model and how it is proposed that funds will be distributed in the SLCF.

Model Comparisons

!Diagram showing the distribution mechanism of funds in the UK LCF and Proposed SLCF models.
Objectives of the SLCF

7.13. Projects and activities that meet one of the following objectives will be considered for SLCF funding:

A. Land Reclamation, Remediation or Restoration
B. Community based recycling and reuse projects
C. Public parks and public amenities
D. Biodiversity conservation
E. The restoration of places of worship and historic buildings
F. The provision of administrative, financial or other similar services to environmental bodies enrolled with the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum and registered with SEPA.

7.14. As described further below, landfill site operators would make all SLCF contributions to a DEB (either an existing body or one they create). The roles and responsibilities of participants in the SLCF are as follows:

Roles under the proposed scheme:

Environmental Bodies/Projects (EBs)

- Communities and environmental bodies will be able to seek access to funding from the SLCF by contacting the DEB that operates in their local area or the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum. Revenue Scotland, SEPA and the landfill site operator would, if approached, also point organisations to the appropriate body.

- All EBs/projects would be registered and approved by SEPA acting on behalf of Revenue Scotland. The EBs/projects would receive funding and be assisted in this by their local DEB or the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum which would provide a service to the project by helping with the application for funding and, if successful, with project management and accounting.

Distributive Environmental Bodies (DEBs)

- The DEBs will be required to register with the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum and adhere to a formal code of conduct. The Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum will report to the regulator, SEPA, which along with Revenue Scotland, will be represented on the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum board. The Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum would be entitled to an agreed level of contributions to the SLCF to meet the costs of its reporting role.

- Landfill site operators will be able to make funding contributions to the local Distributive Environmental Body directly (all such contributions would be notified to SEPA in its role as the fund regulator). The DEBs will assess applications from community and environmental projects for SLCF funding. If the projects meet the objectives of the fund (and other criteria to be set out in guidance) and funding is available, the DEB would arrange for the distribution of funds to the projects as it considers appropriate.
Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum & SEPA

- The Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum will gather information from the DEBs and help to ensure compliance with the rules of the SLCF.

- SEPA will provide appropriate regulation to help ensure accountability, transparency and value for money. The regulator’s main task would be to provide a safeguard that funds were being used properly and that administration costs are as low as reasonably achievable. SEPA and Revenue Scotland would then reconcile data from the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund Forum with the landfill site operators’ tax returns.

Revenue Scotland

- Revenue Scotland would delegate its functions and day to day running of the scheme to SEPA but retains overall responsibility, oversight and a duty to report to the Scottish Parliament.

Guidance and vicinity rules

7.15. Further to the regulations 26-33 relating to the SLCF in Annex E, Revenue Scotland will produce guidance notes on the running and administration arrangements of the fund. The guidance will provide further explanation of the proximity/vicinity rule mentioned in the regulations.

7.16. The Scottish Government recognises that waste transfer stations, where taxable waste to be landfilled is often collected for forward transportation to a landfill site, can cause a dis-amenity to local communities. For this reason it is proposed that community and environmental projects in the vicinity of waste transfer stations should also eligible to be considered for funding from the SLCF. The map in figure 7.2 below shows the geographic spread of potential eligible projects under the proposed SLCF, based on the location of landfill sites and waste transfer stations.

CHAPTER 8
ACCOUNTING AND INVOICING PERIODS

Chapter summary

- SEPA’s role in administering Scottish Landfill Tax enables new links to be made between SLfT and its existing permitting role for landfill sites.

- The Scottish Government is keen to reduce the administrative burden on landfill site operators where possible by, for example, using online systems to align environmental reporting requirements with SLfT returns and reporting.

- The main obstacle to aligning the two mechanisms is the 14 day invoicing period provision in S26 of the SLfT Act which changes the tax point to the invoice date. Removing this provision would allow for the reporting dates for the two systems to be aligned.

- We are seeking your views on any effects the removal of this provision may have on the operation of landfill sites.

8. Revenue Scotland will offer an innovative approach to the collection of taxation. It will work with two firmly established and highly respected organisations: SEPA to administer disposals to landfill and Registers of Scotland to administer the Land and Buildings Transaction Tax. These partnerships will offer further opportunities to customise tax collection arrangements that are specific to the Scottish situation, drawing on the relevant knowledge and expertise within SEPA and Registers of Scotland to simplify the approach to the collection and management of taxes where possible and to reduce the administrative burden on taxpayers.

8.1. The selection of SEPA to have a role in the collection and management of SLfT provides an opportunity to make links with SEPA’s existing permitting role for landfill sites.

8.2. Revenue Scotland will ensure that clear advice and guidance is available to help taxpayers and their advisers to understand the new system and the processes for submitting tax returns and payments.

8.3. Conditions in a Waste Management Licence (WML) or Pollution Prevention and Control (PPC) permit require the provision of quarterly data to SEPA by landfill site operators on the types and quantities of waste managed (treated and/or disposed) at the facility.
8.4. Section 73 of the RSTP Bill allows the Scottish Ministers to set the ‘filing date’ (the date taxpayers have to complete self-assessed returns). The Scottish Government proposes that the filing date for the SLfT returns should be the same as the PPC Permit return at the end of every quarter. It is also the intention to align the two systems further by allowing 30 days for payment after the filing date.

8.5. Currently, section 26 of the SLfT Act allows landfill site operators to issue an invoice to the person who disposed of the waste 14 days after the disposal was made. The issue date of the invoice is then treated as the date that the tax is due. This moves the tax point from the date of the disposal of waste to the date that the invoice was issued by the landfill site operator.

8.6. However, the effect of the 14 day period in section 26 is that administrative dates for the environmental and tax systems are continually misaligned. For example, there are consequential effects on compliance investigations and the cross referencing of quarterly and annual data, as there is always a 14 day inconsistency between tax returns and environmental returns (see figure 8.1).

8.7. To align the administrative and reporting dates for the environmental and tax systems, the Scottish Government proposes to remove the provisions in section 26 of the SLfT Act and wishes to seek views on any implications that might have on landfill site operators.

Accounting and invoicing periods

Q9 Do you agree that the 14 day period provision in section 26 of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 should be removed to align the environmental and tax return periods?
Title of Proposal

Draft Landfill Tax (Scotland) Regulations - Secondary Legislation

Purpose and intended effect

This document is an extension to the BRIA carried out for the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Bill 2014:
http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Publications/2012/10/3524.

Additional information can also be found a paper carried out by Eunomia Research called Landfill Tax An Economic Assessment:

Background

The Scotland Act 2012, received Royal Assent on 31 May 2012 and gave the Scottish Parliament legislative competence over devolved taxation. The devolved taxes were defined as being taxes on transfers of interests in land and taxes on disposals to landfill. The existing Stamp Duty Land Tax (SDLT) and UK Landfill Tax (UK LFT) will be dis-applied in Scotland by a Treasury Order in the UK Parliament. It is anticipated that the two devolved taxes, Land and Buildings Transaction Tax (LBTT) and Scottish Landfill Tax (SLfT) will come into effect in Scotland from 1 April 2015. The Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act 2014 (SLfT Act) details this replacement tax and received Royal Assent on 21 January 2014.

The Revenue Scotland and Tax Powers Bill (RSTP Bill) makes provisions for a Scottish tax system to enable the collection and management of the devolved taxes. The RSTP Bill contains provisions that will establish Revenue Scotland as the tax authority responsible for the collection and management of Scotland’s two devolved taxes.

Revenue Scotland will collect and administer the devolved taxes, supported by Registers of Scotland for Land and Buildings Transaction Tax and the Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA) for SLfT.

Objective

We aim to implement SLfT on waste deposits to landfill in Scotland from 1 April 2015. We have proposed a legislative framework to enable the Scottish Government to administer SLfT. The overarching objectives are:

- To design the policy and rules for SLfT.
To put in place the necessary legislative framework to enable the Scottish Government to administer SLfT.
To tailor the SLfT system to better align it with Scots law and practice.

To introduce SLfT from 1 April 2015, the Scottish Government intends to bring forward orders and regulations under many of the delegated powers within the SLfT Act to the Scottish Parliament. The orders and regulations cover various matters relating to the tax:

Rationale for Government intervention

These proposals are being implemented as a consequence of the Scotland Act 2012. The Scotland Act 2012 provides that UK LFT will be dis-applied in Scotland as well as devolving power to the Scottish Parliament to tax waste deposits to landfill. As set out in the BRIA that accompanied the SLfT Bill, the framework for the devolved SLfT is broadly similar to the current arrangements for UK LFT, however, there are some distinctions.

1) Illegal dumping.
The overwhelming consultation response from operators was that illegal dumping is a huge concern in the industry. This manifests itself in both areas of land being used as landfill sites without any environmental controls or permits and also incorrect type, quality or quantity of material being utilised in activities registered as exempt from environmental licensing. The general consensus is that it is unfair that legal sites must pay SLfT while illegal sites can undercut them with lower gate fees because they do not have to pay any tax or install expensive environmental controls. Taxing illegal deposits combined with tighter regulation is required to support legitimate businesses, encourage alternative waste utilisation and prevent environmental harm.

The SLfT Act incorporates provisions that will allow a wide range of unauthorised waste deposits to be captured by the tax regime. Defining illegal disposals as unauthorised and taxable within the SLfT will help to rebalance these concerns

2) A Scottish Communities Fund.

Sections 18 and 20 of the Act set up the credit scheme that will be the working basis of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund (SLCF).

The credit rates and details of the administrative arrangements underpinning a SLCF are not specified in the Act. Instead, powers under sections 18 and 20 will be used by Scottish Ministers to make provision through subordinate legislation.

The regulations outlining the detail of the SLCF are still to be developed and will be consulted on in due course. It is anticipated a simpler scheme involving more self-regulation is likely to be preferred by all stakeholders. The current scheme is generally seen as being very successful but a few issues have been identified:

- Environmental projects may be deterred by excessive ‘red tape’.
- The distribution model of the fund is complex.
- Most of the funds (97%) are utilised in just 3 of the objectives;

Regulation of the Scottish Landfill Communities Fund

The existing fund is currently regulated by Entrust on behalf of HMRC. It is anticipated that there will be a two year wind down period for funds already allocated by the existing scheme, to continuing projects in Scotland, this process will continue to be regulated by Entrust. The Scottish Government has asked SEPA to regulate the SLCF and SEPA has agreed to do this on a cost neutral basis to SEPA.

SEPA will continue to liaise with the Scottish Government while the subordinate legislation is being developed and throughout the consultation period for the regulations. This will enable SEPA to develop systems and procedures relating to regulatory issues, in conjunction with the policies and guidance of the SG and Tax Authority for the SLCF.

3) Link with Wider Policy Initiatives

The introduction of SLfT will contribute to the achievement of the Scottish Government National Outcome: "We reduce the local and global environmental impact of our consumption and production."

It will also contribute towards the achievement of the Scottish Government Objective to create a Wealthier and Fairer Scotland - including creating a competitive tax regime which incentivises legitimate business growth.

We also recognise there are longer-term opportunities to ensure the tax is more aligned with Scottish Government objectives for policy on economic growth and climate change.

At this stage, aspects of SLfT legislation are being finalised through secondary procedure. Without this secondary legislation, the SLfT framework would be incomplete.
Consultation

Within Government

Preparatory work for the consultation paper involved discussions across a wide range of Scottish Government interests including:

- Fiscal Responsibility Division
- Environmental Quality Division
- Constitutional Change
- Scottish Government Legal Directorate
- Better Regulation and Industry
- Analytical services & Economics (Environment)
- Her Majesties Revenue and Customs (HMRC) (UK Government)

Extensive discussions are taking place with the Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA). Whilst acting as the Scottish environment regulator, SEPA also has an interest as a delegated agency for SLfT, on behalf of Revenue Scotland.

Public Consultation

The consultation, ‘Protecting Our Resources - Consultation on a Scottish Landfill Tax’, ran from October 2013 to January 2014. Sixty eight responses were received and analysis is available at: http://www.zerowastescotland.org.uk/content/landfill-tax-scotland-0

Scottish Government ran workshops to discuss the future of the Landfill Tax Communities Fund on the 14 January 2013 and the 20th October 2013.

Business

Eight interviews with waste management organisations from the private and public sector where conducted during the 12 week consultation period as part of the Scottish Firms Impact Test. The results of this can be found in the Final Business and Regulatory Impact Assessment for the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Bill at: http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Publications/2013/06/8957. A meeting to discuss Landfill Tax in Scotland and the Bill was also held with the Scottish Environmental Services Association (SESA) on the 17 January 2013.

Landfill Tax Bill Stakeholder Group

Three Stakeholder events were held, one just prior to the consultation on the 7 August 2012, one immediately following the consultation period on the 28 January 2013 and the last one concentrated on the LCF on the 20th October 2013. Members of the Group include:

William Beattie, C/O Scottish Landfill Communities Forum (EB Scotland)
John Brewster, C/O CIWM, (Waste & Recycling Group)
2014 Consultation & Engagement

It is intended that a number of engagement activities will be conducted over the consultation period including a workshop open to all landfill site operators in Scotland, a workshop for environmental bodies associated with the Landfill Communities Fund, local authority engagement and meetings with waste and resource industry.

The secondary legislation specifically impacts on the following areas:

To prescribe activities at a landfill site to be treated as taxable disposals – Section 6 (1)

Section 6 (1) of the SLfT Act provides for Scottish Ministers to prescribe a specific landfill site activity, with the effect that it will constitute a taxable disposal. It also allows for certain conditions to be set before an activity is considered a landfill site activity or a disposal

Benefits

• Clarification for operators of landfill sites as a set of rules and definitions of activities that are subject to the tax, and by default what activities are not.
Costs

- Similar rules already exist in the Landfill Tax (Prescribed Landfill Site Activities) Order 2009 and therefore no additional costs are likely. Illegal waste deposits will, however, be defined as a taxable disposal and therefore illegal operators will incur significant tax liabilities.

To vary what is a taxable disposal – Section 11(1)

Section 11(1) of the SLfT Act provides for the Scottish Ministers to vary what is categorised as a taxable disposal, what is not a taxable disposal and what is exempt.

Provisions have already have been provided on the face of the SLfT Act, sections 7, 8, 9 and 10. This will be consulted on over the summer and further exemptions may be considered by utilising this order if deemed necessary.

To specify the standard and lower rates of tax – Section(13)2

Section (13) 2 & 5 of the SLfT Act provides for a power to set the rate of tax for taxable deposits and a separate rate for materials that fall under the Qualifying Materials Order. Both standard rate material and qualifying material will be charged on a per tonne basis, and a proportionate amount for any additional part of a tonne or if less than one tonne is disposed of.

Tax rates for SLfT will be announced in the Autumn Budget and that an Order will be laid in the first calendar quarter of 2015

To determine what material qualify for the lower rate(s) of tax – Section(13)4

Section (13) 4 of the SLfT Act provides a power to allow the materials qualifying for the lower rate of tax to be defined, by way of a list. The proposal is to initially replicate the existing list contained in the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) Order 2011 as amended.

Benefits

- Keeping a list of qualifying material similar to the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) 2011, ensures consistency and aids implementation for the SLfT tax regime in Scotland for operators and regulators. This would be a stabilising factor for the industry in the short term. Flexibility to review once the SLfT is established means other materials highlighted in the consultation could then be considered, which could be subjected to different rates of tax.

Costs
As identical rules are already contained in the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) Order 2011 as amended, no additional cost implications are perceived.

To set out conditions that material must meet to be treated as qualifying material – Section (14)7

Section (14)7 of the SLfT Act provides conditions to be set that must be met before material can be treated as qualifying material (or qualifying material of a particular category). This includes paper work and information that has to accompany the material and levels of contamination that bar the deposit as qualifying.

As outlined for the 13(4) power above, to ensure consistency, ease implementation and give industry certainty. To achieve this, the existing qualifying material Order for UK LFT has been replicated, with an aim of reviewing it in the future.

Benefits

- As per 13 (4) above

Costs

- As identical rules are already contained in the Landfill Tax (Qualifying Material) Order 2011 as amended, no additional cost implications are perceived.

To determine how a taxable disposal is weighed – Section(15)1

Section (15)1 of the SLfT Act provides that SLfT will be levied on material going for disposal by way of a landfill site. It is calculated based on the mass of material; therefore stringent weighing methodologies are required to ensure consistency, openness and fairness.

A similar power already exists in section 68 (1)-(6) of the Finance Act 1996 which has led to Part X of the Landfill Tax Regulations 1996 41-44. However, we propose to remove the ability to discount water and to emphasise the need to use a weighbridge.

Benefits

- Properly weighed material leads to accurate tax returns.
- All but very small landfill sites are already required by environmental permits to have a weighbridge. Alternative methods can be agreed when a nearby weighbridge is unavailable or in the event of breakdowns.
- Liquid waste was banned from going to Landfill in 2003, this would support that ban.
- Less water in a landfill would help to generate less leachate, pollution risks.
and minimise resource use to treat the resultant leachate.

- Simpler tax returns as all material weighed regardless of water content is taxable, saving time and resources.

Costs

- Existing weighing requirements are already in place and have been replicated with an emphasis on weighbridge utilisation as a preference before alternative agreed measures.

- The cost implications for not allowing the existing water discounting agreements to continue are ongoing and will be determined in conjunction with the consultation process. It is the intention that these will be costed in the final addition to the BRIA, prior to the regulations being laid in Parliament (October 2014).

To make provision about the liability of controllers of landfill sites to pay tax – Section(17)1

Section 17 (1) of the SLfT Act provides for a power to allow for situations when the authorisation holder of a landfill site has no direct involvement in operating the site and allows for the “controller” of a site to be liable for the payment of the tax.

The existing law covering controllers is in paragraphs 48-61 of schedule 5 of the Finance Act 1996.

Benefits

- For situations when the authorisation holder of the site has no direct control of the site, tax can still be attributed to the, “controller”.

Costs

- As identical rules are already contained in Finance Act 1996 as amended, no additional cost implications are perceived.

Requiring a person to register and keep Tax Authority updated of changes if they are carrying out a taxable activity – Section 22(9) & 23(1)

Section 22(9) & 23(1) of the SLfT Act requires a person to register and keep the Tax Authority updated of changes if they are carrying out a taxable activity. An existing power is already contained in the Finance Act 1996 sections 47(9) and 48(1) & (2) and the regulation details are contained in the Landfill Tax Regulations 1996 regulation 4 & 5. Regulation 4 refers to particular forms specified in the schedule to the regulations which must be used.
Benefits

- It is hoped to develop an online form to ease operator returns. Details on this will be developed between Revenue Scotland and SEPA over the Summer and Autumn. Return and updating requirements will remain the same.

Costs

- As a largely unchanged process is being proposed no addition costs to the operator are envisaged.

To set accounting periods and tax returns to be submitted for those accounting periods – Section (25)

Section 25 of the SLfT Act provides for a power allowing for accounting periods and tax returns to be submitted for those accounting periods in a defined format.

The existing section 49 of the Finance Act 1996 contains similar powers and these powers are expanded upon in regulations 11 and 15 of the Landfill Tax Regulations 1996. Similar provision will be provided but the accounting periods will be fixed to calendar months to allow comparison with environmental data already collected by SEPA.

Benefits

- Correlation of tax data with environmental data by SEPA who will be collecting the tax on behalf of Revenue Scotland and already collect waste data returns will aid the auditing of tax returns.

Costs

- Operators may have to alter their existing tax return periods which could incur extra administrative costs to set up. However, the same information will be required so the on-going costs will be identical.

Allowing the Tax Authority to collect information on material at landfill sites and for landfill site operators to supply information – Section 30(1)

Section 30(1) of the SLfT Act provides for defining which areas of a landfill site involve taxable disposals and which areas are for non-taxable uses of waste.

A similar power is outlined in paragraph 1A of Schedule 5 of the Finance Act 1996 and this power has been utilised in regulation 16A of the Landfill Tax Regulations 1996, to define information areas and what information is required of them.

Benefits

- To avoid confusion the areas formally referred to as ‘information areas’ are now referred to as ‘non-disposal’ areas in the SLfT Act.
Costs

- As existing provisions are being replicated no addition costs to the operator are envisaged.

To provide rules that must be followed if a taxable person becomes bankrupt, incapacitated, dies or their business is sold as a going concern – Section 37(1, 4 & 5)

Section 37(1, 4 & 5) of the SLfT Act provides a power is to ensure, amongst other things, that liability of a landfill operation continues under set conditions should the business continue to operate after the original registered person is no longer the operator.

Benefits

- Allows for landfill tax to be collected in circumstances were the registered person is no longer the authorised operator.

Costs

- As existing provisions are being replicated no addition costs to the operator are envisaged.

Scottish Firms Impact Test

We intend conducting our Scottish Firms Impact Test during the consultation process. A full addition to the BRIA would be published following the consultation and this would contain the results from this Impact Test.

Competition Assessment

In assessing how the SLfT Act will impact competitiveness in Scotland, the Scottish Government has given consideration to whether the policies contained in the SLfT Act will directly or indirectly limit the number or range of suppliers.

The Scottish Government does not consider that the replacement tax will directly alter number or range of suppliers of any kind in Scotland. The replacement tax is broadly akin to UK LfT and is applicable to all taxpayers who deposit waste by way of landfill in Scotland. This includes private individuals and commercial entities. It will also impact upon the agents of these parties, including the legal profession and tax accountants. However, the SLfT Act will apply equally to all concerned and it will be rolled out across Scotland simultaneously.

It is unlikely that SLfT will have an impact on Scotland’s competitiveness as a whole given that SLfT will operate in a way that is broadly similar to UK LfT. Given that the tax rates and bands will be set separately at a later stage as part of the Budget process in autumn 2014, the impact of tax rates is not in scope for this Impact Assessment. The proposed tax rates and bands will be subject to consultation and Parliamentary scrutiny through the Draft Budget process, led
The introduction of SLfT will impact on the legal profession and tax accountants. Consequently building good working relationships has been key to enable the effective dissemination of information on SLfT. Revenue Scotland is liaising with SEPA to aid delivery of an online tax filing system which will be fully tested prior to our go live date.

Legal Aid Impact Test

The Legal Aid Team has confirmed that it does not expect any impact on the legal aid fund as a result of this secondary legislation.

Enforcement, sanctions and monitoring

Revenue Scotland will ultimately have powers to enforce the collection of SLfT and the Revenue Scotland and Tax Powers Bill (RSTP Bill) establishes Revenue Scotland and provides for its general and particular functions. The RSTP Bill sets out the tax management system that will underpin devolved taxes in Scotland. It sets out the powers and duties of taxpayers and Revenue Scotland and outlines the investigatory powers of Revenue Scotland. The RSTP Bill also sets out the process for issuing penalties in respect of non-compliant behaviour and contains provisions for debt enforcement.

The RSTP Bill also provides for the establishment of the Scottish Tax Tribunals to hear appeals against devolved taxes, which will ultimately become part of the unified Scottish Tribunals from 2016/17 and sets out the reviews and appeals process.

Implementation and delivery plan

The collection of SLfT will be undertaken by Revenue Scotland, under powers for the delegation of Revenue Scotland’s functions as set out in the RSTP Bill, SEPA will assist Revenue Scotland as delegated by them. Revenue Scotland will be established on a statutory basis as a non-ministerial department accountable to the Scottish Parliament. The Scottish Government, Revenue Scotland and SEPA are working closely together to ensure that SLfT is implemented by 1 April 2015.

Summary and recommendation

In passing the SLfT Act, the Scottish Parliament has endorsed the Scottish Government’s approach. The Scottish Government has dismissed the option of not having a SLfT. If there is no replacement to UK LFT, there would be an impact on the Scottish Government’s budget and more waste would go to landfill. This would have an adverse impact on the delivery of public services in Scotland, impact on climate change through generation of more methane from landfills and undermine the Scottish Governments Zero Waste Policy.

Therefore, the SLfT Act as passed by the Scottish Parliament takes forward the options to maintain a similar landfill tax system as the rest of the UK, set at similar tax rates. This partial BRIA forms part of the secondary legislation process that will lead to the completion of the legislation required to bring forward the SLfT.

Post-implementation review

The regulations will be formally reviewed within ten years of the commencement date of the Landfill Tax (Scotland) Act (2014), as passed by the Scottish Parliament.

Declaration & Publication

I have read the impact assessment and I am satisfied that, given the available evidence, it represents a reasonable view of the likely costs, benefits and impact of the leading options. I am satisfied that business impact has been assessed with the support of businesses in Scotland.

ANNEX B

DRAFT EQUALITY IMPACT ASSESSMENT

DRAFT PARTIAL EQUALITY ASSESSMENT

While the main purpose of this Equality Impact Assessment (EQIA) on the proposed implementation of a Landfill Tax for Scotland to replace the existing UK Landfill Tax system in Scotland is to identify any potential adverse impact, it also offers the opportunity to consider how this work can better promote equality of opportunity and good relations.

The public sector equality duty requires the Scottish Government to pay "due regard" to the need to:

- eliminate discrimination, victimisation, harassment or other unlawful conduct that is prohibited under the Equality Act 2010;
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not; and
- Foster good relations between people who share a relevant protected characteristic.

These three requirements apply across the "protected characteristics" of age; disability; gender reassignment; pregnancy and maternity; race; religion and belief; sex and sexual orientation.

In effect, this means that equality considerations are integrated into all the functions and policies of Scottish Government Directorates and Agencies.

The Equality Impact Assessment (EQIA) enables us to consider how our policies (by policy we mean activities, functions, strategies, programmes and services or processes) may impact, either positively or negatively, on different sectors of the population in different ways.

We are now requesting comments on this partial EQIA. The comments received will be used to complete the full assessment and to determine if any further work in this area is needed.
Step 1: Define the aims of your policy

What is the purpose of the proposed policy (or changes to be made to the policy)?

Currently, Landfill Tax operates throughout the United Kingdom, with policy responsibility for it reserved to the UK Government. Following agreement between the UK and Scottish Governments, the Scotland Act 2012 includes powers for the Scottish Parliament to legislate on Landfill Tax in Scotland.

The UK Government plans to "switch off" the UK Landfill Tax system in Scotland from April 2015. This means the Scottish Government will need to bring forward legislative proposals for the Scottish Parliament to consider and prepare for the implementation of the new tax arrangements for an April 2015 commencement date. The consultation on Landfill Tax is a key stage in this process.

Who is affected by the policy or who is intended to benefit from the proposed policy and how?

Primarily for landfill site operators but will also be of interest to waste producers, others involved in the waste management industry and environmental bodies under the Landfill Communities Fund.

How have you, or will you, put the policy into practice, and who is or will be responsible for delivering it?

Legislation will be required to set out the structure Landfill Tax for Scotland. As a stepping stone towards this, the consultation paper sets out proposals for key aspects of the Scottish tax. The consultation touches on provisions for tax collection, enforcement and appeals. However, a number of these provisions are likely to be set out in separate legislation on Taxes Management, which will be consulted on separately (with an associated Equality Impact Assessment).
How does the policy fit into our wider or related policy initiatives?

Initially, the Scottish Government wishes to ensure that the transition to the Landfill Tax is administered in an efficient and effective manner. This is part of the preparations to enable the Scottish Government to take on further tax powers in the event of support from the people of Scotland in the planned referendum on independence.

Landfill Tax is a cornerstone of Scotland's Zero Waste Plan making alternatives to landfill financially viable. More detail can be found in the Partial Business and Regulatory Impact Assessment.

Do you have a set budget?

A provisional budget for implementation of the tax will be agreed with the tax authorities and further details will be provided in time for introduction of the Scottish Landfill Tax.

   (ii) that requirement is not complied with.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not apply to any landfill site activity if, or to the extent that, it involves material that is or has been otherwise chargeable to Scottish landfill tax or exempted from that tax.

           spent by the body;

       (ii) the contribution had not been spent by the body before that revocation took effect, contribution.

(2) For the purpose of paragraph (1) above where—contribution made in that accounting period as the total credit claimed in accordance with that regulation forms of the total of the contributions made.

(3) Where—

   (a) a person has benefited from an amount of credit to which the person was entitled under this Part; and
   (b) the whole or a part of the qualifying contribution in respect of which the entitlement to credit arose has been repaid to the person or a person who was a contributing third party in relation to the qualifying contribution, the person shall pay to Revenue Scotland an amount equal to 90 per cent of the amount repaid to the person or, as the case may require, to the contributing third party.

(6) Where—
   (a) a person has benefited from an amount of credit to which the person was entitled under this Part;
   (b) the person acquires an asset from a body to which the person has made a qualifying contribution for—
      (i) no consideration, or
      (ii) a consideration which is less than the open market value of the asset, the person shall pay to Revenue Scotland an amount equal to 90 per cent of the amount by which the open market value exceeds the consideration; but this is subject to paragraph (7) below.

(7) A person required to pay an amount to Revenue Scotland by paragraph (6) above—
   (a) shall not be required to pay more than the total amount of relevant credit;
   (b) shall not be entitled to claim any further amounts of credit in respect of qualifying contributions made by the person to the body in question on or after the date on which he acquired the asset.

(8) For the purposes of paragraphs (6) and (7) above—

   (c) “relevant credit” means credit arising under this Part—
      (i) from which a person has benefited, and
      (ii) which has arisen in respect of qualifying contributions made by him to the body in question or treated by virtue of regulation 28(5) as having been received by that body from him.

PART 9

Determination of weight of material disposed of

Scope

35. This Part applies for the purpose of determining the weight of material comprised in a disposal; and references in this Part to weight shall be construed as references to the weight of such material.

Basic method

36.—(1) Except where regulation 3 or 4 applies and subject to paragraph (2) below, a registrable person shall determine weight by weighing the material concerned.

(2) The weighing of the material shall be carried out at the time of the disposal; and for this purpose any time at which section 26 of the Act requires the disposal to be treated as made shall be disregarded.

Specified methods

37.—(1) Except where regulation 4 applies, this regulation applies where Revenue Scotland have specified rules for determining weight in a notice published by them and not withdrawn by a further notice.

(2) A specification made by Revenue Scotland as described in paragraph (1) above may make provision for—

(a) the method by which weight is to be determined;

(b) the time by reference to which weight is to be determined.

(3) A specification made by Revenue Scotland as described in paragraph (1) above may provide—

(a) that it is to have effect only in relation to disposals of such descriptions as may be set out in the specification;

(b) that it is not to have effect in relation to particular disposals unless Revenue Scotland are satisfied that such conditions as may be set out in the specification are met in relation to the disposals.
(4) Where this regulation applies the registrable person shall determine weight in accordance with the rules in the specification (and not in accordance with the rule in regulation 2).

Agreed methods

(a) the registrable person and an authorised person have agreed in writing that weight shall be determined in accordance with rules other than those described in regulation 2 or specified under regulation 3; and

(b) a direction under paragraph (3) below has not been made.

(2) Rules may be agreed under this regulation as regards—

(a) the method by which weight is to be determined;

(b) the time by reference to which weight is to be determined.

(3) Where rules have been agreed under this regulation and Revenue Scotland believe that they should no longer be applied because they do not give an accurate indication of the weight or they are not being fully observed or for some other reason they may give a direction (which may be contained in guidance) that the agreed rules shall no longer have effect.

(4) Where this regulation applies the registrable person shall determine weight in accordance with the rules agreed (and not in accordance with the rule in regulation 2 or 3).

Weigh Bridges

39.—(1) Where a weigh bridge is available either on landfill site or within close enough proximity of a site so as not to incur unreasonable extra costs on the taxpayer, then it must be used to weigh all disposals.

(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply in the case of a weigh bridge at a landfill site has broken down or when an alternative weigh bridge is not available within a close proximity.

(3) Any weigh bridge used for the purposes of these Regulations must comply with the relevant weights and measures legislation.

(4) Where paragraph (2) applies, any alternative weigh bridge must be agreed by Revenue Scotland.

(5) A valid tax return cannot be made in respect of material not weighed in accordance with these Regulations.

Water not to be discounted

40. In the weighing of any material for the purposes of these Regulations, water content of the material is not to be discounted.

It also makes special provision for transfers of a going concern, partnerships and other unincorporated bodies and relating to the bankruptcy or incapacity of registered persons.

— Part III deals with accounting for tax by making returns, the keeping of a landfill tax account, the correction of errors, payment of the tax and retention of records.

— Part IV deals with claims and payments in respect of credits of tax arising under Parts V, VI and VII.

— Part V provides for an entitlement to credit in circumstances relating to the recycling, incineration and permanent removal of waste.

Secondary liability: Controllers of landfill sites

3.—(1) Where—

(a) a taxable disposal is made at a landfill site;

(b) at the time when that disposal is made a person is the operator of the landfill site by virtue of section 12(2) of the Act; and

(c) at that time a person other than the operator mentioned in paragraph (b) above is the controller of the whole or a part of the landfill site, the controller shall be liable to pay to Revenue Scotland an amount of the landfill tax chargeable on the disposal.

(2) The amount which the controller is liable to pay shall be determined in accordance with the following provisions of this regulation.

(3) In a case where the whole of the landfill site is under the control of the controller, he shall be liable to pay the whole of the landfill tax chargeable.

(4) In a case where a part of the landfill site is under the control of the controller, he shall be liable to pay an amount of the landfill tax calculated in accordance with paragraphs (5) and (6) below.

(5) The amount of landfill tax which the controller is liable to pay is the amount which would have been chargeable had a separate taxable disposal consisting of the amount of material referred to in paragraph (6) below been made at the time of the disposal mentioned in sub-paragraph (1)(a) above.

(6) That amount of material is the amount by weight of the material comprised in the disposal mentioned in sub-paragraph (1)(a) above which was disposed of on the part of the landfill site under the control of the controller.

(7) If the amount mentioned in paragraph (6) above is nil, the controller shall have no liability under paragraph (1) above in relation to landfill tax chargeable on the disposal.
(8) For the purposes of sub-paragraph (1)(b) and (c) above—
   (a) section 26 of the Act; and
   (b) any regulations made under section 11 of the Act, shall not apply for determining the time when the disposal in question is made.

Operator entitled to credit

4.—(1) This regulation applies where—
   (a) the operator of a landfill site is liable to pay landfill tax on a taxable disposal by reference to a particular accounting period;
   (b) a controller of the whole or a part of that site is (apart from this regulation) liable under regulation 3 above to pay an amount of that tax; and
   (c) for the accounting period in question the operator is entitled to credit under regulations made under section 18 of the Act.

   (2) The amount of the tax which the controller is (apart from this paragraph) liable to pay shall be reduced by the amount calculated in accordance with the following formula—

   $$\frac{A \times C}{G}$$

   where—
   A is the amount of tax mentioned in sub-paragraph (1)(b) above;
   C is the amount of credit mentioned in sub-paragraph (1)(c) above; and
   G is the operator’s gross tax liability for the accounting period in question.

   (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2) above, the operator’s gross tax liability for the accounting period in question is the gross amount of landfill tax—
   (a) which is chargeable on disposals made at all landfill sites of which he is the operator; and
   (b) for which he is required to account by reference to that accounting period.

   (4) In paragraph (3) above, the gross amount of landfill tax means the amount of tax before any credit or any other adjustment is taken into account in the period in question.

   (5) If the amount calculated in accordance with the formula in paragraph (2) above is greater than the amount of tax mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b) above, the amount of the tax which the controller is liable to pay shall be reduced to nil.

Payment of secondary liability

5.—(1) This regulation applies where a controller is liable under regulation 3 above (after taking account of any reduction under regulation 4 above) to pay an amount of landfill tax (“the relevant amount”).

   (2) The controller is required to pay the relevant amount to revenue Scotland only if—
   (a) a notice containing the required information is served on him; or
   (b) other reasonable steps are taken with a view to bringing the required information to his attention, before the end of the period of two years beginning with the day immediately following the relevant accounting day.

   (3) The relevant accounting day is the last day of the accounting period by reference to which the landfill site operator liable to pay the landfill tax in question is required to account for that tax.

   (4) If the controller is required to pay the relevant amount by virtue of this regulation, the amount shall be paid before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following the notification day.
(5) The notification day is—
   (a) in a case where notice is served on a controller as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(a) above, the day on which the notice is served; or
   (b) in a case where other reasonable steps are taken as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(b) above, the day on which the last of those steps is taken.

(6) For the purposes of paragraph (2) above the required information is the relevant amount and, if that amount is one reduced in accordance with regulation [b] above, also—
   (a) the amount of the controller’s liability under regulation 3 above apart from the reduction;
   (b) the amount of credit to which the operator is entitled; and
   (c) the operator’s gross tax liability.

Determinations and Assessments

6.—(1) Where an amount of landfill tax is—
   (a) determined or assessed under sections 78, 86,89 or 90 of the RSTP Act; and
   (b) notified to an operator of a landfill site,
Revenue Scotland may also determine that a controller of the whole or a part of any landfill site operated by the licensed operator shall be liable to pay so much of the amount assessed as they consider just and equitable.

(2) A controller is required to pay an amount determined under paragraph (1) above only if—
   (a) a notice stating the amount is served on him; or
   (b) other reasonable steps are taken with a view to bringing the amount of the liability to his attention, before the expiry of the period of two years beginning with the day immediately following the assessment day.

(3) The assessment day is the day on which the assessment in question is notified to the operator of the landfill site.

(4) If a controller is required to pay an amount by virtue of this regulation, it shall be paid before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following the notification day.

(5) The notification day is—
   (a) in a case where notice is served on a controller as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(a) above, the day on which the notice is served; or
   (b) in a case where other reasonable steps are taken as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(b) above, the day on which the last of those steps is taken.

Assessment withdrawn or reduced

7.—(1) Where—
   (a) a controller is liable to pay an amount determined under regulation 6 above; and
   (b) the assessment notified to the operator of the landfill site is withdrawn or reduced,
Revenue Scotland may determine that the controller’s liability is to be cancelled or to be reduced to such an amount as they consider just and equitable.

(2) Paragraphs (3) to (5) below apply where Revenue Scotland make a determination under paragraph (1) above that the controller’s liability is to be reduced (but not cancelled).

(3) In such a case Revenue Scotland shall—
   (a) serve the controller with notice stating the amount of the reduced liability; or
   (b) take other reasonable steps with a view to bringing the reduced amount to the controller’s attention.
(4) If the controller has already been served with notice of the amount determined under regulation 6 above, or if other steps have already been taken to bring that amount to his attention—

(a) Revenue Scotland shall serve the notice mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a) above, or take the steps mentioned in subparagraph (3)(b) above, before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following that on which they make the determination under paragraph (1) above; and

(b) the reduced amount shall be payable, or treated as having been payable, on or before the day on which the amount referred to in sub-paragraph (1)(a) above would have been payable apart from this paragraph.

(5) In a case where the controller has not been served with notice of the amount determined under regulation 6 above, or no other steps have been taken to bring that amount to the controller’s attention, the controller shall be liable to pay the reduced amount only if—

(a) the notice mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a) above is served; or

(b) the other steps mentioned in subparagraph (3)(b) above are taken, before the expiry of the period of two years beginning with the day immediately following that on which the Commissioners make the determination under paragraph (1) above.

(6) Paragraph (7) below applies where—

(a) Revenue Scotland make a determination under paragraph (1) above that the controller’s liability is to be cancelled; and

(b) the controller has already been served with notice of the amount determined under regulation 6 above, or other steps have already been taken to bring that amount to the controller’s attention.

(7) In such a case Revenue Scotland shall—

(a) serve the controller with notice stating that the liability has been cancelled; or

(b) take other reasonable steps with a view to bringing the cancellation to the controller’s attention, before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following that on which Revenue Scotland make the determination that the liability is to be cancelled.

(b) the operator’s being notified of an amount assessed under provisions referred to in regulation 6(1)(a); or

(c) the withdrawal or reduction of an assessment or determination referred to in regulation 6(1)(a) which was notified to the operator.

(2) In such a case Revenue Scotland may determine that a controller of the whole or any part of a landfill site operated by the operator of the landfill site—

(a) shall be liable to pay to Revenue Scotland such an amount as Revenue Scotland consider just and equitable; or

(b) shall be entitled to an allowance of such an amount as Revenue Scotland consider just and equitable.

(3) A controller is required to pay an amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a) above only if—

(a) a notice stating the amount is served on the controller; or
(b) other reasonable steps are taken with a view to bringing the amount of the liability to the controller’s attention, before the end of the period of two years beginning with the day immediately following the relevant accounting day.

(4) The relevant accounting day is the last day of the accounting period of the operator within which the adjustment in question was taken into account.

(5) If a controller is required to pay an amount by virtue of paragraph (3) above, it shall be paid before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following the notification day.

(6) The notification day is—

(a) in a case where notice is served on a controller as mentioned in sub-paragraph (3)(a) above, the day on which the notice is served; or

(b) in a case where other reasonable steps are taken as mentioned in sub-paragraph (3)(b) above, the day on which the last of those steps is taken.

(7) Revenue Scotland may determine in what manner a controller is to benefit from an allowance determined under sub-paragraph (2)(b) above.

Amounts payable to be treated as tax

9. An amount which a controller is required to pay under regulations 6, 7 or 8(2)(a) above or under regulation 11 below shall be deemed to be an amount of tax due from the controller and shall be recoverable accordingly.

Controller not carrying out taxable activity

10. A controller is not to be treated for the purposes of these Regulations as carrying out a taxable activity by reason only of any liability under these Regulations.

Joint and several liability

(2) But the amount which may be recovered from the controller in consequence of such liability shall not exceed the amount of the secondary liability.

(3) For the purposes of this regulation—

(a) the principal liability is the amount referred to in sub-paragraph (4)(a), (5)(a) or (6)(a) below, as the case may be; and

(b) the secondary liability is the amount referred to in sub-paragraph (4)(b), (5)(b) or (6)(b) below, as the case may be.

(4) The condition in this sub-paragraph is satisfied if—

(a) the operator of a landfill site is liable under section 16(1) of the Act for landfill tax; and

(b) a controller is liable under regulation 3 above, after taking account of any reduction under regulation 4 above, to pay an amount of that tax.

(b) in consequence of a determination made under regulation 6 above by Revenue Scotland in connection with the assessment, a controller is liable to pay an amount (after taking account of any reduction under regulation 7 above).

(6) The condition in this paragraph is satisfied if—
(a) the liability of the operator of a landfill site to pay landfill tax is adjusted in such a way that regulation 8 above applies; and
(b) in consequence of a determination made under regulation 8(2)(a) above by Revenue Scotland in connection with the adjustment, a controller is liable to pay an amount.

Interest payable by a controller

12.—(1) This paragraph applies where—
(a) the operator of a landfill site and the controller of the whole or a part of that site are by virtue of regulation 11 above jointly and severally liable for an amount; and
(b) that amount carries interest by virtue of any provision of the RSTP Act.

(2) The controller and the operator shall be jointly and severally liable to pay the interest.

(3) But the amount which may be recovered from the controller in consequence of such liability shall not exceed the amount calculated in accordance with the following formula—

where—

I is the total amount of interest in question;
A is the amount of interest carried for the period which—
(a) begins with the first day of the period for which interest is carried, and

S is the amount of the secondary liability;
P is the amount of the principal liability.

In this paragraph secondary liability and principal liability have the same meaning as in regulation 11 above.

before the end of the period of two years beginning with the day immediately following the final day.

(5) The final day is the last day of the period for which the interest in question is carried.

(6) If the controller is required to pay an amount in accordance with this regulation, it shall be paid before the end of the period of thirty days beginning with the day immediately following the notification day.

(7) The notification day is—
